The New Know

Innovation Powered by Analytics

THORNTON MAY

Afterword by Alan Webber, former editorial director, Harvard Business Review and co-founder of Fast Company magazine

“Human history reflects our long – and by no means completed – ascent from the darkness of ignorance to the light of knowledge. Thornton illuminates the knowledge explosion which itself is a critical part of what we must know next.”

Alvin Toffler
Author and futurist

THE NEW KNOW: INNOVATION POWERED BY ANALYTICS

BY: THORNTON MAY

This book is about what can be known, what must be known, and, most important, what actions you will take because you know. This is the power of business analytics. Revealing the analytic community as never before, May builds upon years of fieldwork to bring us a fascinating look at this community that does important, exciting work affecting every aspect of your organization's life. Celebrating the tools, processes, people, and practices of business analytics, The New Know reveals how to create information-based competitive advantage.
