Obtaining, Growing, and Retaining Your Professional SAS® Staff: A Panel Discussion

Rick Mitchell, Westat
Stephen Noga, Rho, Inc.

ABSTRACT

It has been said that one of a company's hidden assets is the institutional knowledge vested within its workers, and it is an asset that loses value when an experienced worker walks out the door. This moderated panel discussion will attempt to discuss some of the best practices that companies use to create and increase the value of this asset with regards to their professional SAS® staff. Representatives from various industries who manage and hire SAS programmers will share their practices in this forum.
