The screenshot shows the SAS website's sign-in interface. A dark blue modal box is centered over the page content. The modal has a title 'Sign In' at the top. Below the title, there are two input fields: the first for an email address, containing 'sodauser@email.com', and the second for a password, represented by dots. Below the password field is a checkbox that is checked, with the text 'Accept the terms of the license, the terms of use and conditions, and the use of cookies'. To the right of the checkbox is a question mark icon. Below the checkbox is a 'Sign In' button. At the bottom of the modal, there are three links: 'Forgot Password?', 'Don't have a SAS Profile?' (with a question mark icon), and 'Sign In not working?'. The background of the page is dark blue with white text. The main heading is 'Learn', followed by a paragraph about learning SAS programming. Below this is a list of bullet points. To the left of the modal, there is a 'Teach' section with a graduation cap icon. At the bottom of the page, there is a 'Get Started' section with a person icon. The footer contains links for 'License', 'Terms of Use & Legal Information', and 'Privacy Statement', followed by the SAS logo and a copyright notice for 2025 SAS Institute Inc.

11. You are presented with a screen with options. It is important that you understand these options as they affect how you interact with SAS OnDemand for Academics. The Help section named Help me choose contains embedded tools to aid you in determining the best region for you.

Suggest a Home Region

In most cases, the site performance from your typical usage location will indicate the best choice. Below, you can perform a simple test to estimate that performance if you are currently at that location.

Compare Performance of All Regions

Alternatively, we can suggest a region based on your expected usage location if you select that location below. If you are currently at that location, you can select (Current Location) to detect it automatically.

Cancel

Click Compare Performance of All Regions. The tool suggests a region based on performance.

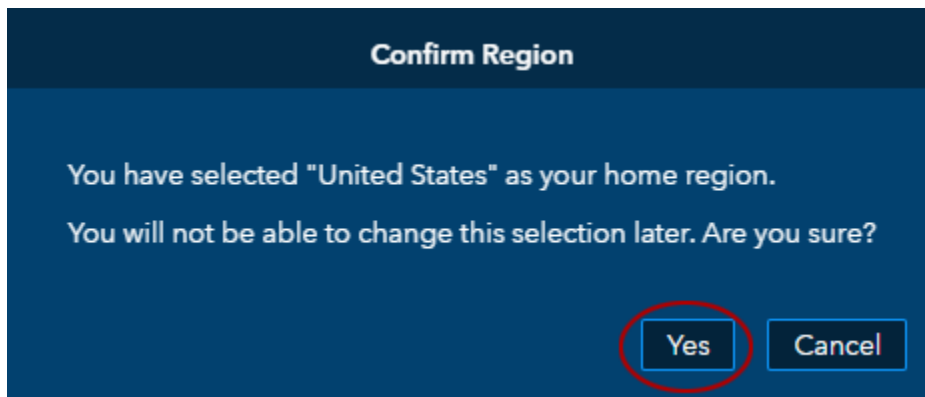

Alternatively, select the country in which you will primarily use SAS OnDemand for Academics from the drop-down menu. The tool suggests a region based on your expected usage location.

12. Select your home region. Click Submit.

The screenshot shows a dark blue dialog box titled "Select Home Region". Inside, there is a paragraph of text: "Select a region to use as your home region, then click the Submit button. Before making your selection, we strongly suggest you read about home regions on the Frequently Asked Questions page." Below this is another line of text: "Select your home region carefully. This selection cannot be changed once made." There are three large blue buttons labeled "United States", "Europe", and "Asia Pacific". Below these buttons is a smaller button labeled "Help me choose". At the bottom right are two buttons labeled "Submit" and "Cancel".

13. A window prompts you to confirm your selection of a home region. Click Yes.

The screenshot shows a dark blue dialog box titled "Confirm Region". Inside, there is a paragraph of text: "You have selected 'United States' as your home region. You will not be able to change this selection later. Are you sure?" At the bottom right are two buttons labeled "Yes" and "Cancel". The "Yes" button is circled in red.

14. A message is displayed that says that your registration has been submitted and is being processed. An email is sent to you with further instructions. Click OK.

15. You should receive a confirmation email that contains a link to the SAS OnDemand for Academics Sign In page. Click the link to open SAS OnDemand for Academics.
